Demons I ain't calm with my karma ain't at one with myself going round the bend in my search for zen I've been born again but each time I'm just the same can anybody show me some sign of faith its hard so hard to keep all the demons down its hard so very hard to keep a good demon down lord knows I yes I've sold my soul ten times maybe more you could say that I'm easily led but its hard to find your way through the dark on the path to enlightenment say I ain't calm with my karma ain't at one with myself going round the bend in my search for zen I've been born again but each time I'm just the same can anybody show me some sign of faith its hard so hard to keep all the demons down yeah its hard so very hard to keep a good demon down lord knows I lord knows I oh the good lord knows I've tried night night sleep tight don't let the demons bite I said night night sleep tight don't let the demons bite Little People With Big Things To Hide I've been watching we've been watching you surveilling inhaling you I've been watching we've been watching you surveilling a panoramic view tell me your secrets and I will show you mine all of you little people with something big to hide can't turn a blind eye no we can't rewind getting closer right by your side can't turn a blind eye no we can't rewind getting closer right by your side tell me your secrets and I will tell you mine all of you little people with something big to hide there's nowhere to run you've got nowhere to hide no where to run you've got nowhere to hide you keep on moving I keep on moving you keep on running I keep ahead of you you keep on moving I keep on moving you keep on running I keep a head of you we're all just little people with something big to hide we're all just little people living out our little different lives Kiss my feet I have risen from the ashes of the former working class served my time kissing I've been kissing ass I'm manoeuvring my roots to forget about my past you can stick me in the middle but I never will be last you can kiss my you can kiss my feet you can kiss my get down on your knees coz this is all the love that a rich man needs get down on your knees and kiss my feet I can understand your resentment sometimes I hate myself but I can't stop feeding my greed and to hell with every one else yes I'm the most evil the most evil type of class I'm reaching for the top when I know I've got no chance you can kiss my you can kiss my feet you can kiss my get down on your knees for this is all the love that a rich man needs get down on your knees and kiss my feet I've come a long way yeah I've come a long way yeah I've come a long way yeah I've come a long way yeah I've come a long way take a good look mamma your little boy's gone and done everything you wanted stuck in the middle halfway up the ladder I'm reaching for the top and nothing else matters I've come a long way take a good look mamma your little boy's gone and done everything you wanted stuck in the middle half way up the ladder I'm reaching for the top and nothing else matters the Fragile we fell in love on our first double-take couldn't quite believe the goodness in that stroke of fate coz I ain't used to being part of two and you just got used to being you but I'm here to break your fall whenever you feel ready just let go and fall yes I'm here to break your fall whenever you feel strong enough just let go and fall everybody sees you coping feigning moving on and growing but I've known for a while inside you're fragile fragile I've known for a while not everybody gets a twenty-second chance to find a love full of the good without the bad I know the past makes you nervous but I won't let you down I promise no I'm here to break your fall whenever you feel strong enough just let go and fall everybody sees you coping feigning moving on and growing but I've known for a while inside you're fragile fragile I've known for a while good things good things will come to those who wait your patience will be repaid some day good things will come to those who wait your patience will be repaid some sweet day you'd lost all control from day one life took its toll through all the highs and all the lows you're betrayed by the ache of the past and the knowledge of what it takes to et it go I know what it takes to let go Good Things will come to those who wait your patience will be repaid some sweet day I want you to know that never again will you be alone through all the highs and all the lows I will be right by your side every day every night together together we can let it go I know what it takes to let go good things will come to those who wait your patience will be repaid some sweet day The Last Leaf Hanging like a last leaf hanging on winters eve I can't believe I cannot believe while everything is falling everything is gone you're still hanging holding on coz you have found the secret the secret we all seek you may be small you may be weak but you'll never let go you'll never give into the breeze like a last leaf hanging on winters eve you're hanging by your fingertips to the one last chance of finding it while everything's fallen slipping away you don't move you don't sway you have found the secret the secret we all seek you may be small you may be weak but you'll never let go you'll never give into the breeze like a last leaf hanging on winters eve you keep on holding on keep on holding on keep on holding on keep on holding on and on and on the winter winds will try to take you the frost will start to creep but no matter what live throws at you you will always keep holding on feeling strong coz you have found the secret the secret we all seek you may be small you may be weak but you'll never let go you'll never give into the breeze like a last leaf hanging on winters eve you keep on holding on keep on holding on you keep on holding on keep on holding on and on and on Working Class Hero home is where the heart lies where the heart lies the most home is where our love died now our love is like a ghost it's all over it's all over now it's written all over your face your face I remember when we used to talk through the night and beyond I thought our love would last forever but now we sit in silence simmer through the night dreaming of different lives hatching our escape plans in our minds it's all over we both know that it's all over now it's written all over your face I can see it I can see it on your face I can see it I can see it on your face your face I can see it I can feel it you don't love me we both know that we both know that you don't need me we both know that it's all over now Sleepwalking you scraped all your luck together bought a second-hand chance whatever happens now is all up to you dispense with the past misdemeanours you forgot that you're just a dreamer it's better to hit than to run be careful where you're walking coz you've been sleepwalking you're too long gone the red lights are fading the last chance has come but all that you've done is broken and wasted it's time for you now to move along in your life there's times when you've wanted days when you've longed to get along is harder than hitting and too far away for you to run you should be careful where you're walking coz you've been sleepwalking you're too long gone be careful where you're walking you've been sleepwalking hit and run you gotta be you've got to be careful coz you're heading yeah you're heading yeah you're heading for a hit and run Lifelong Drinking Friend I miss the nights when the stars steered us back home I miss drinking for Scotland exchanging opinions saving the whole universe on our own but the world never listened to our position and sent us back home where you kept on drinking and I should've known something was wrong wrong wrong oh I miss my lifelong drinking friend my lifelong drinking friend I never wanted to go but the drink started talking a hold I needed to leave to breathe achieve to find some other way home now the stars only glisten when I think of what's missing all the good times have gone you kept on drinking I should've known something was wrong wrong wrong oh I miss my lifelong drinking friend I miss laughing crying loving fighting making it right in the end oh I miss my lifelong drinking friend my lifelong drinking friend right to the end Disfunctional we burn we burn to hide away we burn we burn to hide away from all the things we said and all the things we did keep a light on in our head all the things we did and all the things we said keep a light on in our head we burn we burn to hide away we burn like you pray to hide the cold light of day makes us feel a little more normal makes us feel a little less dysfunctional makes us feel a little more normal makes us feel a little less dysfunctional we walk we talk in daydreams and whispers but like you we're good we're just easily misunderstood so we burn we burn to hide away we burn like you pray to hide the cold light of day it makes us feel a little more normal makes us feel a little less disfunctionalmakes us feel a little more normal makes us feel a little less disfunctionalwe burn we burn to hide away we burn we burn to hide away from all the things we did and all the things we said keep a light on in our head all the things we did and all the things we said can't shake or get rid makes us feel a little more normal makes us feel a little less disfunctionalmakes us feel a little more normal makes us feel that we are in control Wavelengths we used to see from all angles come at life from both sides you widened my horizons I opened up your mind when you crashed through my door screaming you needed more oh I felt my heart sink like a stone for I knew then that I would be alone coz I've got no more we are falling fading slipping sliding drifting in and out of wavelengths wavelengths drifting we're increasingly moving in different circles walking on separate lines we're ten storeys apart in our heads and our hearts and it's only a matter of time 'til we got no more we are falling fading slipping sliding drifting in and out of wavelengths wavelengths wavelengths drifting we're drifting wavelengths wavelengths wavelengths.
